

GOVERNOR SPRY TAKES PART IN FLAG DAY CELEBRATION

Industrial School Boys and Girls Listen to Excellent Advice of Chief Executive of the State—Superintendent E. S. Hinckley Gives an Outline of the Work of the Institution.

Attended by more than 500 people and evidencing to all that a splendid corps of efficient and Christian spirited officers and instructors is doing much to guide the state's juvenile charges, boys and girls, back into the paths that lead to good citizenship, the annual Flag Day exercises of the Utah State Industrial school were held yesterday afternoon on the spacious south lawn of the institution.

Prominent among the spectators were Governor William Spry, Attorney General Barnes, State Auditor Lincoln J. Kelly, State Superintendent of Public Instruction Dr. E. G. Gowans and wife, State Senator John Thorpe, State Senator Clark, President John Walsh and Trustee N. A. Tanner of the S. I. S. board, Supt. and Mrs. E. M. Driggs, and Mrs. A. B. Corey of the board of trustees of the Utah State School for the Deaf and Blind, Judge E. J. Milne of the Salt Lake juvenile court and wife, Probation Officers Guardello Brown, Joseph Burbridge, Ethel Hansen, and Mrs. Hattie James of Salt Lake, Juvenile Judge and Mrs. C. C. Gunnell, Juvenile Court Clerk and Mrs. Caleb Marriott of Ogden, Supt. J. M. Mills of the Ogden public schools, President John Watson of the Weber stake, President and Mrs. J. H. Robinson of Davis stake, Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Waldo and Rev. and Mrs. W. V. Wood of Ogden. Nearly all of these visitors were guests of the school at the annual opening of the program.

The banquet was a finely appointed affair and in keeping with the spirit of the day, the large dining room at the girls' home, wherein it was served, was beautifully decorated. Double streamers of red, white and blue, strung from the four corners, clanders to a central point on the ceiling, formed a pretty canopy and large vases of pink and white roses and peonies placed on the tables added both beauty and fragrance. Small flags, too, were a pleasing part of the decorative scheme. The place cards were hand-painted, with a flag occupying the space not required for the names.

Supt. E. S. Hinckley presided at the feast and grace was said by Rev. Fleetwood. The menu, prepared in culinary and domestic science department of the Gables, was as follows:

Marshallcock
Spring Chicken
New Potatoes Gilted and White Sauce
Creamed Turnips Spring Salad
Cheese Straws
Coffee

Ice Cream Assorted Cake

The banquet was served by twelve girls of the Gables, who came in for a share of the pleased comment of the guests, seventy in number, on its general excellence. The committee that planned and superintended the affair was composed of Mrs. Mary Mann, Mrs. H. Nordquist, Zina R. Larkin, Ethel Brown, Mrs. L. Milam, J. M. Thomas and T. Carlsen.

From the Gables, the specially invited guests returned to the main building and shortly afterward joined the large crowd that had gathered to witness the main program. Adequate seating arrangements had been made on the outskirts of the south lawn and the grounds were gaily decorated with bunting and flags. The students of the institution, the girls making a neat appearance in white middie and dainty colored ribbon ties, and the boys in their military uniforms, occupied tiers of seats convenient to the entrance to the improvised stage.

The program was opened by the playing of "In Camp," a medley of songs, by the S. I. S. band and the invocation was offered by Trustee N. A. Tanner. The school "Song of Welcome," sung by fourteen C boys, was next sung and Superintendent E. S. Hinckley delivered the address of welcome. The address included a brief explanation of the scope of the work covered by the different departments of the industrial school and, in part, follows:

"Governor Spry, Members of the Board, Ladies and Gentlemen. It is a most pleasant duty to welcome you into our midst. To welcome you to your school to visit your boys and girls that you may become more familiar with what they are doing here. It is a pleasure, indeed, to greet so many and feel the deep interest you take in the boys and girls of the Industrial school. It is a pleasure to place before you samples of the fruits of their labors.

"In the program which will be carried out you will see and hear some of the achievements of their intellectual efforts and at various points you may observe in their finished hand the products of the correlation of the head, the heart and the hand in their educational development. These are some of the tangible expressions of their progress and reveal to you the effects of directed and congenial effort. These are some of the means used in the development and growth of character. "We are convinced in our own minds that the greatest joy in the world is the joy of service; that the greatest power in the world is the power of love; and that the greatest battle in the world is the victorious battle with one's self. It is our burning desire to indelibly impress these thoughts upon the minds of the boys and girls entrusted to our care.

careful inspection and constructive criticism. "Again I bid you welcome and trust most sincerely that the program and the work of our boys and girls will impress you more than ever before with the great truth that we are all of one flesh and one blood, and though some of us may dwell in a marred house, we are all the sons and daughters of one Omnipotent Father who guides and directs the destiny of our souls."

Governor's Response.
The response to the address of welcome was made by Governor Spry. In part, the governor said: "Our future depends on the boy and girl of today. They must be taught and corrected, if not we must have great fear for the future. The education of the boys and girls of the state must be directed and I see excellent results of such direction here today. This school is intended for the industrial education and the correction of our boys and girls. The seal of approval must be placed upon an institution of this kind. We want the people of the state to know what this school is doing for their boys and girls. I am convinced that this school compares favorably with other like institutions and I have explicit confidence in the men and women who have this work in charge and am perfectly willing to leave it up to them. They know how to handle the work and can handle it, and I am indeed pleased with what I have seen today.

"The boys and girls should be commended for the work they have done in the various departments and I think the art work and articles made in the carpentry department compare favorably with any I have seen in the public schools. "The future of the flag depends upon the boys and girls of today, therefore, our efforts must be first of all well directed in the education of the boys and girls for without them our future must be dismal indeed. The only desire of the officials who preside over this institution is that the work will succeed, and I want to express my appreciation of the work done by the officers who preside over the institution previous to the present time, as well as my appreciation of the work being done by the present officials. The foundation of institution was built well and we appreciate the fact."

Honored Men and Women.
Continuing, the governor encouraged the girls and boys of the school to accept the instruction given them that they might grow up to be honored men and women in society. "If this result is attained," he said, "the institution will have done its work, and it can be attained by persistent personal effort."

In conclusion, he referred to the flag and the national anthem, condemning the misuse of the latter by making it a part of a medley and in other ways. "The Star Spangled Banner," he said, "is too sacred to be played or sung as a part of any other musical composition, even a medley of other American military airs, and it should be used only in a way and on occasions when it will create a proper spirit of reverence and patriotism."

Every family should own a flag and should display it on occasions when flags are the order of the day. The United States flag means more to the world than any other flag in existence today, because there is more opportunity under its folds and its people can rise to greater heights and enjoy more privileges."

Students' Program.
The remarks of the governor were loudly applauded and when they were finished the students' program was continued. Frank Van Duren, one of the promising musicians of the school, gave a clear-toned cornet solo, "Mari-gold Polka." Another unusually gifted youngster, Leo Filmano sang, "The Red, White and Blue," in a soprano voice that could be heard all over the grounds. These numbers were enthusiastically applauded and when they were to the school programs, that both surprised and pleased the visiting officials, was an exhibition of four modern social dances given by eight girls from the Gables. The dances were the standardized one-step and fox-trot, the military three-step and Sobies' hesitation waltz and they were danced in good style, proper position and pleasing gracefulness. Each received a full measure of applause. Another dance number, that of the "Fairy Queen" was gracefully done by one of the girls, with six little girls as her attendants. This was done to the accompaniment of the "Fairy Queen" song, sung by a mixed chorus of students.

The class A and B boys scored a big success in calisthenic and military drills, under the direction of Sgt. Floyd Smith, N. G. U. These were probably the most appreciated number on the program and deeply impressed the audience with the beneficial qualities of this type of training, both from the standpoint of health and discipline.

Questions on the Flag. "What the Flag Means," "The Color Bearer" and "Flag Ring Song" were numbers of educational purpose, given in a creditable manner by the class C boys. The "Soldiers' Chorus" was sung by the A and B boys and the audience received a rare treat in the rendition of the song, "The Flag Without a Stain," by Miss Leonore Hinckley. The closing number was "The Star Spangled Banner," sung by W. H. Manning and the students of the school, with accompaniment by the band.

The instructors responsible for the success of the musical part of the program were Prof. E. W. Nichols, director of the band; W. H. Manning, vocal instructor, and Miss Myrtle Barrett, piano accompanist.

WORLD'S MARKETS

New York, June 15.—Copper shares were again the conspicuous features at the outset of today's moderate operations. Inspiration rising half a point to within a fraction of its high record with similar gains for Anaconda and Tennessee coppers. Maxwell issues were fairly strong but the general average of specialties was little changed from final quotations of the preceding session, except Beet Sugar which yielded over two points. American rails, Canadian Pacific and "So" stood out for their strength, and United States Steel led the active industrials with a slight fractional gain.

Chicago Grain
Chicago, June 15.—Wheat prices fell today to the lower price yet for the 1916 crop. A notable decline in quotations from Liverpool was what started the downturn here. Bearish estimates on the world's available supply of breadstuffs seemed also to have an influence. Opening prices, which ranged from 14 to 5-8c lower with July at $1.02 1-8 to $1.02 1-2, were followed by a material further descent and then a moderate rally.

The wheat close was nervous, 3-8 to 5-8c net higher, with July at $1.03 1-8 and September at $1.05. The corn close was unsettled at gains of 1-8 to 5-8c net.

was given. This was an exhibit of work conveniently arranged at the east side of the lawn and included furniture made in the carpenter shop, wogan and model farm gate and other things made in the blacksmith shop, work done in the shoe shop, loaves of bread, butter rolls and cinnamon rolls made and baked by the boys in the Nelson Hall kitchen, plain and fancy needlework and fancy cooking by the girls in the domestic arts and science department at the Gables. The work was of remarkably fine finish and was highly praised by the visitors.

The older people, however, were probably more impressed with the exhibit of art work, English and spelling. More than two thousand drawings were shown in the art exhibit, of many different subjects, and for the excellence of this work, the instructor, Mrs. Elsie E. Barrett, received much praise. The English and spelling tablets, upon inspection, showed that the students are making good progress in these important fundamentals.

Passing from the exhibit, the crowd was treated to a picnic lunch of sandwiches, pickles, vanilla wafers, ice cream cones and lemonade, this being arranged for and served by the following committee: H. Halverson, Effie Wanggaard, Edith MacKinnon, Myrtle Barrett, Leonore Hinckley, J. M. Thomas and E. Carlson. For this feast, 1,000 sandwiches were made by the boys and 2,000 wafers by the girls, and the supply was completely exhausted.

In answer to numerous letters, the principal theme of which was "Be Sure to Come to the Flag Day Celebration," written home by the students during the past four or five months, many of the parents were at the school yesterday and, after the program was concluded, visited the boys and girls.
